One Year Later Private School Is Still Hoping to Relocate Here

Exactly a year ago, Mercer Christian Academy went before the Planning Board to test the atmosphere: what did the board think about the idea of a new private school in Princeton?

The atmosphere was very cool, the board's thoughts not very welcoming.

Since that time, the Academy has been looking at its property and its plans in different ways, and it is now ready to return to the Planning Board.

Proposals for a school on part of a 60-acre parcel between Mercer Road and the Lawrenceville Road were scheduled for discussion at a Planning Board work session next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road Building; however, board staff still did not know late Tuesday whether a quorum could be assembled in this vacation season. If it is not possible to achieve a quorum, the session will be cancelled. In any case, the Academy is on the agenda for the board's regular meeting Tuesday, September 8.

Although the property comprises 60 acres, the Academy would arrange its school complex on only 40, with an entrance-exit on Mercer. The George-Cook house and accompanying buildings, occupying 20.6 acres fronting on the Lawrenceville Road, would not be used by the school and would probably be offered for sale.

In this Township R-1 residential zone, a private school is a permitted use, but the Academy needs a conditional use authorization.

Plans show a 25-foot-wide road in from Mercer, leading to a parking lot with 76 spaces. An emergency access road, 12 feet wide, leads out the other end of the property, with an exit on the Lawrenceville Road.

The buildings would be constructed for 300 students, but school officials hope there will be 700 in three more years. Classrooms, gymnasium, cafeteria and the usual school administrative offices would occupy 45,000 square feet in one-story structures 27 feet high.

Founded in 1975, Mercer Christian Academy is, as its name indicates, a Christian-oriented private school. It was organized by parents affiliated with the Westerly Road Church in Princeton, and has a fundamentalist, "born-again Christian" approach. The curriculum is a standard one, with emphasis on the Bible and Christian teaching.

At present, the school is holding classes in rented quarters in Central Baptist Church in Ewing.

At three hearings before the Environmental Design Review Committee earlier this summer, the school, said, in response to questions about the geographic spread of its students, that eight live in Princeton.

The traffic plans prepared by the school for the EDRC show a widening of Mercer Road in the lane going away from Princeton to provide a deceleration lane for right turns into the school. The lane accommodating traffic coming toward Princeton would have a painted island ending in a left-turn lane into the school.

EDRC members, having heard the Academy say that 18 buses would bring children to school, said they foresaw an early-morning row of buses and cars

Suit Seeking to Have Property Revaluation Nullified Expected to Be Filed in Superior Court Next Monday

Lawyers for the Borough-Township Tax Revolt Committee expect to file suit in Superior Court next Monday against Borough and Township governments, their assessor and the Mercer County Board of Taxation asking the court to throw out the property revaluation made by the P.R.C. Jacobs firm so that a new revaluation can be done.

"Based on the data we have, revaluation appears so fraught with error as to render it a nullity," says Richard Altman, of the law firm of Pellitieri, Rabstein and Altman, retained by the Tax Revolt Committee as legal counsel.

Mr. Altman added that if revaluation had that much error, the tax rate itself must have been affected. He said the Jacobs errors will be analyzed statistically: if there are 200 to 300 errors, a projection will be made.

"We may be able to show a percentage of error so great that the tax rate is affected," he said. "If that is so, then individual remedies, like a successful tax appeal, just would not be applicable."

Meanwhile, the founders of the committee, Martin P. Lombardo and George Pinelli, plan to call upon Borough Council at its work session in Borough Hall this Thursday at 8, asking Council to request that the county wipe out the revaluation. (See Advertisement, page 15.)

Mr. Lombardo hinted this week at possible charges of fraud. "Jacobs had clear-cut guidelines," he declared, "but mis-represented the facts."

However, Mr. Lombardo and Mr. Pinelli may find themselves with cool heels by the time they can present their case. Council president Nelson van den Blink — presiding, in the absence of vacationing Mayor Robert W. Cawley — has polled all Council members who will be in town and present. They have agreed that committee representatives will only be allowed to speak after all the other items on the agenda have been discussed.

There are seven other items, including a discussion on what to do with the Paul Robeson Community Center building, now that the United Way has dropped the Center; how to handle a new state law requiring municipalities to notify senior citizen tenants when landlords decide to convert buildings to condominiums; re-appointing Joseph Stonaker to the Housing Authority and so on. The hour may be late.

The tax committee also plans to make the same request to Township Committee. That body will not meet until Wednesday, September 9.

Next Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, there will be a third meeting of the tax revolt group. At this one, committee members and accountant consultant Lewis Parker, will outline steps taxpayers should take to prepare for an appeal hearing before the county tax board.

Mr. Altman's law firm is sending letters and a questionnaire to everyone who filed a tax appeal with the county. Taxpayers who have found errors in their revaluation and who want to be part of the tax revolt committee's suit, may authorize the law firm to treat them as members of the "association" under whose name the suit will be filed. They will not, technically, be plaintiffs.

"Even if you don't join the suit," Mr. Altman explains, "we hope you will fill out the questionnaire and send it to us, to give us more data. If you do join the suit, we'll draw up

Garage Referendum Likely to Make It on November Ballot

Canvassers are still seeking Borough home-owners who want to sign a petition placing the Spring Street garage design bond ordinance on the November ballot.

John Miller, speaking for the referendum group, said this week that he is "very optimistic" that his group can obtain the signatures they need.

State law requires the signatures of people whose properties, added together, total at least ten percent of the Borough's assessed valuations. The Borough's taxable valuation is $356,251,642, which means that the committee's signatures must represent at least $35,625,164 in assessed valuations.

Mr. Miller, to be on the safe side, has set $40 million as his target. He hopes he can exceed the minimum $35-plus, and "even come close to the $40 million."

The deadline is next Monday, August 31. Mr. Miller plans to take to Borough Hall this Friday afternoon the signatures he has, with an estimated total.

Then Stuart Robson Jr., the Borough assessor, will spend the weekend — or as much of it as he needs — checking signatures and dollars. It is not a simple process of addition, Mr. Robson points out. Many homes, perhaps most, are owned jointly by husband and wife. Both owners must sign the petition to get full credit. If only one signs, the property can count for only one-half its assessed valuation.

Mr. Robson must certify to Borough Clerk Penelope Carter that the petitioners have reached the 10 percent figure. She, in turn, must certify that figure to Council, and will do so — assuming petitions are successful — at the agenda session September 3.

Everybody — including Borough Council — wants the referendum on the November ballot; otherwise, it will cost about $5,000 to $10,000 for a special election. To make the November elections, Council must pass on September 3 a resolution asking Mercer County to place the question on the ballot. That resolution must be in the county's hands by September 4.

If there must be a special election, the cost would be borne by the Borough; that is—ironically—by the taxpayers.

affidavits from your questionnaire, and ask you for your signature."

The cost of legal and accounting services is estimated at $6,000 to $8,000. The committee says it has over $2,500, mostly in $25 contributions. (Checks may be made out to Princeton Township-Borough Tax Revolt Committee and mailed to George Pinelli, 214 Valley Road, Princeton. Telephone inquiries may be made at 924-1760.)

Mr. Altman and his colleagues are warning members of the tax revolt committee that there could be problems. When five of the eating clubs on Prospect Avenue went to court to have revaluation wiped out, the court told them to file individual tax appeals.

"The result depends on how widespread the abuse is," Mr. Altman explains, "and whether it can be established."

EARN, LEARN, HAVE FUN: What more can you ask of summer? The Summer Program Staff of the Princeton Housing Authority will complete its summer assignment this week. The crew has been working at Clay Street, Franklin and Maple Terraces and Spruce Circle, black-topping driveways, putting in sidewalks, doing general maintenance inside and out, and learning skills and work habits at the same time. Front row: Eddie Rica, Edward Rica, Allison Hoagland and maintenance superintendent Hank Pannell; rear: Lorraine Rak, program superintendent; Jaffray Marshall, Frantz Massenet, Patar Young, Mika Fuschini, Charles Brown and Kenneth McKeller. David Hoagland was absent. All are either students at Princeton High School, or recent PHS graduates. A similar group has worked all summer at Radding Circle.

Board, Joseph Larocque Jr., 1016 Mercer Road, said that Mercer traffic is already heavy during rush hours and would "materially increase" if the school were there. He also suggested that the school's traffic survey, made between December 23 and December 28 last year, had been done when traffic density was low. He asked for a new survey.

To those who raised concerns about the noise level, the EDRC pointed out that the Academy had located its playing fields at the maximum distance from encircling homes (the land is surrounded by private homes). The school added that its philosophy of teaching does not emphasize sports. The EDRC asked that the school's statements about limiting playing fields be made part of the permanent record.

Gypsy Moths Damage Thousands of Acres In Princeton and Surrounding Communities

Over 3,000 acres of Princeton Township were defoliated by gypsy moths this year, and two thirds of those acres suffered "severe" damage, according to figures released this week by the New Jersey Department of Agriculture.

The actual acreage defoliated was 3,015; 1,945 acres were damaged severely, and 1,070 sustained "heavy" damage, the state report said.

In West Windsor, a community just tapped as "Tree City," 2,345 acres were defoliated, 1,235 of them in the "severe" category and 835 in the less severe "heavy" category. Lawrence Township was luckier, with 965 acres defoliated, 440 of them severely.

Hopewell Township suffered more than any community in Mercer County, with 5,140 acres defoliated. Here again, there were more "severe" acres — 4,705 — than those suffering on "heavy" damage — 435. None of the defoliated areas in any township, was part of the co-operative aerial spray program.

Treated Areas Fare Better.
Gypsy moth damage reached new record levels in the state this year, the department reported. The total damaged acreage throughout the state, was 798,790 — nearly twice the acreage of last year, and about 75 percent of the state's hardwood forest resource. The department obtained acreage figures by making aerial surveys.

Selected areas that were treated, held up very well against the moths' attack, said John Kegg, supervising entomologist for the department. The selective aerial spray treatment was not intended to wipe out gypsy moths in New Jersey, or even to reduce the overall infestation, he said.

"The gypsy moth is recognized by control experts as an established pest throughout the northeastern United States," Mr. Kegg stated. "We don't pretend that we can eradicate it. The objective, in New Jersey, is selected control of high-value timber areas, such as those in residential or forested areas. We believe we accomplished this with the 1981 program."

The department's aerial spray recommendations involved only about 75,000 acres and of these, about 60,000 were treated at the request of municipalities.

Parasites Useful. In addition to spraying, the department releases parasites which attack the gypsy moth in its various stages. These are released in deep forests and build up over a period of time, helping to stabilize the pest population.

Once the pest population is either reduced by chemical sprays, or "collapsed," as a result of disease, parasites can hold the population down, Mr. Kegg explained.

The department also uses biological controls to create, deliberately, a cycle of gypsy moth outbreak every seven or eight years. But the infestation throughout the region is now so great that outbreaks develop more rapidly, interrupting the seven-to-eight-year cycle.

"Even though the cycle is such that no major outbreak is expected for a couple of years," Mr. Kegg continued, "the infestation is so widespread that the wind could blow caterpillars into the area and cause an outbreak earlier, and off-schedule."

SHED COSTS MORE
Hospital Asks More. A storage shed more acceptable to the neighbors is also more costly to the hospital, and the Medical Center has applied to the state health department for a "certificate of need" reflecting this increased cost.

The Center received approval for a certificate of need amounting to $144,000 last year. The new request is for $212,760, reflecting higher costs of the shed's new design. The structure will be built on the grounds of Princeton House, Herrontown Road, and will chiefly be used for the storage of Medical Center Auxiliary items used in the annual hospital fete.

Dr. Joanne Finley, New Jersey's health commissioner, stipulated in the approval she gave last year, that the cost of the shed must not be reflected in reimbursable costs; that is, the hospital is not allowed to add these costs on to bills sent to Blue Cross, Blue Shield or other third-party carriers.

WOMAN CRITICAL
After Route 31 Crash. Terry Steinberg, 27, of West Franklin Avenue, Pennington, was seriously injured Monday when the car she was driving went through a stop sign at Route 31 and Marshalls Corner-Woodsville Road and collided with a truck, state police said. Also riding in the car, but unhurt by the accident, were the woman's 2½-year-old son, Eric, and a black labrador puppy.

Police said the Steinberg car was traveling west on Marshalls Corner-Woodsville Road at about 1:05 p.m. when the driver apparently failed to stop at Route 31. The car hit a truck driven by Donald Austin, 51, of Philadelphia, which was traveling south on Route 31. The car skidded onto the shoulder of Route 31, rolled into a drainage ditch, and came to rest on its roof.

Mrs. Steinberg was listed in critical condition at the Princeton Medical Center. Police issued her a summons charging her with failure to stop for a stop sign.

JEWELRY IS STOLEN
From Riverside Drive Home. Jewelry worth more than $1,000 has been stolen from a bedroom bureau in a Riverside Drive home.

Missing are a platinum wedding ring, gold engagement ring, an onyx ring, jade earrings and bracelet and a pair of gold earrings with a combined value of $1,400 to $1,450. Also taken were a gold chain and an antique gold watch.

The victim, who reported the theft Monday, told police that after she noticed an outside screen generally kept down, was up, it started her thinking. When she checked the house, she discovered the jewelry items missing. Police report that the victim had last seen them on August 11. There was no sign of forced entry.

A John Street resident reported the theft last week of $103 from a metal box which was inside a clothes closet in her second floor apartment.

The victim told police that her door had been padlocked when she left but when she returned two days later it was unlocked. Police said that it had not been forced.

PARKED CAR LOOTED

Of $600 Color TV. A 19-inch color television set valued at $600 was stolen Saturday from a car parked in the Princeton Medical Center garage.

The Cranbury owner told police that he had parked and locked his station wagon at 8 p.m. When he returned three hours later he discovered that his right front vent window had been broken and the TV set stolen.

A Poe Road resident lost $90 after she placed her purse on a dining room table Friday evening and it was taken sometime during the night. Police report there was no forced entry.

Two handbags were stolen last week from an unlocked car parked at the Princeton Shopping Center. The victims, from Humbert Street and Cranbury, lost credit cards and personal items. Police commented that there was no mention of any missing money.

A Kingston Resident and YMCA employee listed the theft of $42 Friday from her leather purse, which she had left unattended in a craft room. It took place, police said, between 12:30 and 5 p.m.

Earlier in the week, a Township resident and employee of Corwin Hall on the university campus lost $20, credit cards and a $171 check

More Needed Enough wet? Not yet.

We have been treated to some very pleasant weather for most of August, sunny days and deliciously cool nights, but that nagging feeling—we need some rain—is beginning to surface again. The last decent rain occurred two weeks ago.

There isn't any immediately in sight either. The next few days will continue on the partly cloudy side with generous portions of sun. Temperatures should reach into the low 80s and drop into the low 60s at night.

when someone removed a wallet from her purse which had been placed behind an office filing cabinet.

Two expensive bicycles were stolen on successive days from the Dinky Station area on Alexander Street.

A locked, 12-speed model valued at $300 was taken Thursday between 7:30 in the morning and 7:45 p.m.; a $450 10-speed had been stolen the previous day between 6:30 a.m. and 5:50 p.m. Police said that the latter's locking chain had been cut.

A bike pump worth $12, an $8 pair of sunglasses and two wrenches were stolen from the bicycle of a Township resident while it was parked Sunday afternoon from 2:10 to 3:30 near Pyne Hall on the university campus.

DRIVER IS CHARGED

With Drug, Traffic Violations. A car was stopped last week by a patrolman who believed the driver was operating without a license. Subsequently, Anthony K. Bailey was charged with five other offenses.

Bailey, 26, whose last known address, police said, was Lincoln Highway, Princeton, has been charged with obstructing the administration of law, careless driving, operating an unregistered vehicle, possession of less than an ounce of cocaine and possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. He was later released after posting $25 bail.

Ptl. Randy Sutton attempted to stop Bailey's car on Witherspoon Street Sunday afternoon because he believed that Bailey, who had been on a revoked list, was driving without a license.

The patrol car flashed its red light but Bailey, police said, refused to stop. As Ptl. Sutton pulled alongside Bailey's car, Bailey allegedly drifted over to prevent the officer from passing him. "He fought him all the way to Clearview Avenue," commented Capt. Theodore Lewis.

Bailey did have a valid license, police noted. It had been returned to him August 17, six days prior to his arrest.

$275 IS TAKEN

Free Health Tests Offered to Young and Old By Health Commission and Medical Center

Free, without any charge to you at all, you may have quick, painless screenings for high blood pressure, diabetes, colorectal cancer, glaucoma, poor hearing.

The screenings are done either by the Princeton Regional Health Commission under contract with the Medical Center at Princeton, or by the hospital itself. Those done by the hospital are given at the hospital; the health department's are held in various community locations.

On Wednesday, September 2 from 2-3 p.m., the health department will offer free screenings for diabetes, hypertension and colorectal cancer in the lower-level lounge, Borough Hall. Screening for glaucoma will be September 22 from 6-9 in the evening at the hospital. There will also be a hearing screening in October at the Senior Citizens Resource Center, Lloyd Terrace. Appointments for the hearing test must be made during September by calling the health department, 924-0477.

"It's the young people we want to get, for hypertension," says Dr. Charles Ream, chairman of the department of medicine at the Medical Center. "Yes, young people follow exercise programs and go jogging, but nobody knows whether it does any good or not. How many people, between the ages of 20 and 25, know what their blood pressure is?"

"There is a direct relationship between blood pressure and death," Dr. Ream says bluntly. "and contrary to the common view, there are no symptoms of hypertension — high blood pressure. If it's discovered, it's so easily treatable! Take one pill a day, maybe two, and the drugs have few side-effects. The quality of your life is important: a stroke is not pleasant, and you just don't realize that until you've had one."

Your blood-pressure is tested by wrapping a testing device around your arm. That's all. If your pressure is extremely high, you'll be told to see a doctor right away; if it's moderately high, you'll be invited back for a re-check in one month.

Your chances? One out of every six white people has high blood-pressure and one out of every five black people. Colorectal cancer is a test you give yourself, in the privacy of your home. There is no examination at Borough Hall. Instead, you're given a hemocult slide. Follow directions, and mail it in. It's designed to test for blood in the intestines, but even if it shows blood, that doesn't necessarily mean cancer. Other things can cause blood in a stool.

Diabetes strikes one out of every 20 people. It is the third leading cause of death and the first cause of blindness. Over 80 percent of the adults who contract diabetes are overweight, so if you are fat, you should by all means be tested. And your chances of diabetes increases with every decade of life, so the older you are, the more need for the test.

You must eat a full meal, including dessert, one and a half to two hours before you go to Borough Hall for this test. It's done with a quick prick of your finger, the blood is analyzed and you're given the result in 60 seconds. If your blood sugar is high, it's only an indication that you should have further testing. It doesn't necessarily mean diabetes.

"For all of us," Dr. Ream points out, "there is a tendency to think — 'it won't happen to me'. — But...."

and then took $275 from a money box before leaving.

According to the victim, the assailant, whom he described as a young man with short dark hair wearing a yellow shirt, entered the office at 4:45 Saturday morning. He put his hand in his pocket and the victim, a Lawrenceville resident, told police that he heard a click which sounded like a switchblade.

At this, the victim reported that he shoved a tape recorder at the intruder who then jumped over a desk and began slashing at him, knocking his eyeglasses off. He sustained a small scratch on one of his hands, police said.

According to Capt. Theodore Lewis, no words were spoken during their encounter. Police searched the area without success, and the initial investigation by Ptl. William Nathan is continuing.

CYCLIST IS STRUCK

By Hit-and-Run Driver. Twenty-year old Leo Schiff of 17 Olden Street was struck from behind by a car Monday as he was riding his bicycle on Route 206 just north of Arretton Road. Knocked to the roadway, Mr. Schiff told Ptl. Anthony Gaylord that he did not remember anything else about the accident.

James Mack, 42 Carnahan Place, traveling behind the cyclist, witnessed the mishap. He told police that a blue

BUCKS IN THE FALL Season Starts September 2.
A three-week run of "Grease," the musical that played to capacity audiences in the spring, will open the 15-week fall season for the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. Opening night will be Wednesday, September 2. John Blair and Joan Rhodes will return to play their spring-time roles.

"Fiddler on the Roof," the Playhouse's all-time winner, will play from September 23 through October 11. It will be the fourth time "Fiddler" has played the Playhouse, and theatre-goers who saw it before will be able to see Bob Bolsover again as Tevye, the Dairyman.

From October 15 through November 1, the Playhouse will present "Godspell," and then "Grease" will come back for the first two weeks in November.

Neil Simon's comedy, "The Odd Couple," will play from November 19 through 29. This is the first comedy produced at the Bucks County

Keystone Comics of Silent Film Days In New Musical Planned for McCarter

The cheerful frenzy of Mack Sennett's Keystone Kops silent movies is the backdrop for the new musical selected by McCarter Theatre for its 1981-82 season. "Keystone," by Lance Mulcahy, will fill the fourth place in the season's row, playing from January 13 through January 31.

Nagle Jackson, McCarter's artistic director, has also announced the Stage II project for the season. It will be "The Overland Rooms," by Richard Hobson, booked into The Acting Studio, 185 Nassau, for two weeks starting January 19.

Characters in "Keystone" are Charlie Chaplin, Fatty Arbuckle, Mable Normand, Marie Dressler and all the rest who raised such splendid hell in the Keystone film studios. Mr. Jackson says Mulcahy's score is "Delightful! It never stops for a moment."

A tryout production in Rochester was praised by Clive Barnes and the critic from Variety. Mr. Jackson is already working with the originators of the piece to get it ready for the McCarter stage. Broadway theatre-goers will remember Mr. Mulcahy for his "Shakespeare's Cabaret" last season.

This will be the second season for McCarter's Stage II concept. Last year, audiences saw Deloss Brown's "Putting on the Dog," and in the Playwrights - at - McCarter series, heard a reading of "The Overland Rooms."

Described by McCarter as "an intensely rich and compelling exploration of the nature of fantasies, both shared and individual," the play has music, and uses a soloist to observe the action and comment upon it, in the manner of the classic Greek chorus.

Playhouse in several years, and it will serve as the Playhouse debut for director Richard Akins.

The season will end on a holiday note, with a production of "Jesus Christ Superstar," scheduled for December 4-13. "Superstar" has been performed more than 140 times in the Bucks theatre, and last April, all eight of its engagements sold out.

During September, "Grease" and "Fiddler" will play Wednesdays at 8:30. For all productions, performances are scheduled for Thursdays and Fridays at 8:30; Saturdays at 5 and 9 and Sundays at 7:30. Information may be obtained at 215-862-2041.

AND NOW, GOODBYE

Last Films of Season. Summer Cinema's 11-week season will close this week with "The Goodbye Girl" and "An Unmarried Woman," to be screened in Kresge Auditorium from this Wednesday through Sunday.

Both of the plays are by Neil Simon and writer-director Paul Mazursky, and both deal with the same subject; the struggles of the divorced or separated New York City woman to cope with her new life and her new loves.

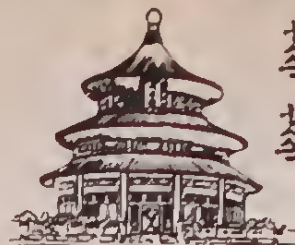

"The Goodbye Girl" is an original, not adapted from any of Simon's hit plays. It has Marsha Mason as a desperately cheerful young

'GOLDEN POND'

Through September 6. The relationship between a warm-hearted elderly couple and a lively 13-year-old boy is explored in affectionate detail in "On Golden Pond," which will play the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre through Sunday, September 6. The theatre is in the rear of the Franklin Township municipal complex on Demott Lane.

"On Golden Pond" plays Friday and Saturday evenings with a curtain-time of 8 p.m., and on Sundays starting at 7:30. Reservations may be made at 873-2710.

In Ernest Thompson's play the actors are Warren Ehrhardt, Marion Waters, Tom Waters, Don Gungardner, Linda Giordano and, as the 13-year-old, Kurt Labbe.

STRING PLAYERS SOUGHT
For Training Ensemble. The Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra's string training ensemble, Portia Sonnenfeld, conductor, will begin its third year for young musicians from grade three and up this fall.

Auditions for the 1981-82 season for young people who play the violin, viola, cello and bass will be held on Tuesday, September 15, at the Music House at the Lawrenceville School. Appointments must be made for auditioning by calling Frances Posnock, manager, at (201) 297-0528.

Members of the String Training Ensemble receive orchestral training at the Music House on Thursday evenings from 7-8:30 p.m. They also gain experience by performing in two concerts each year.

The Ensemble is aided by the Lawrenceville School, the Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra and the Music Performance Trust Funds.

WANT TO AUDITION?
For Neil Simon Play. An open casting call for "Chapter Two," by Neil Simon, will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday, September 1 and 2, at 8 p.m. at the Villagers Barn Theatre, Franklin Township.

The comedy will be performed November 13 through December 13. The script requires two men in the 40 to 50 age group and two women between 30 and 40. The director has stipulated that familiarity with the play is required.

Correction

The wrong telephone number was given last week in the announcement of tryouts for Community Players' production of "Shadow Box."

Those who are interested in auditions should call Nick Procaccino at 921-2339, between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Home Owners Better Off.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The discussion over revaluation and its effects on long-term residents contains an unquestioned assumption: that these residents have been "drastically hurt" by revaluation, to quote a current newspaper ad (TOWN TOPICS, August 12). It is time to question that assumption.

The revaluation has certainly been ineptly handled and is long overdue; probably it contains many specific errors, and residents should seek correction and clarification. But in the main the revaluation reflects these key facts about Princeton real-estate: that many properties that used to be less expensive are now highly desired, and that their market values have increased faster than the overall rate of increase for the community.

The owners of these properties are the beneficiaries of this increase. They made excellent investments. As they often say, all they intended to do was to live here; but in addition, they have been rewarded with an unexpected and massive increase in the values of their properties.

This increase in property values has now been followed — at long last — by a revaluation, and higher property taxes for those whose properties appreciated very rapidly (I am not defending the property tax per se, since I feel that income taxes are a better way to finance many things such as schools). But the point is that even with the increases in their property taxes, these residents have benefitted from their investments.

To see exactly why these property owners have gained, ask yourself which of the following situations you would prefer for your own Princeton property: (1) to have the property increase at an average rate, with no tax increase upon a correctly-done revaluation; or (2) to have the property increase in value at a rate far above average, with a large tax increase.

A few calculations will convince that you are far better off to have invested in the property that increases at an above-average rate (the exact calculations get quite complex, depending on your tax and interest situation, but almost everyone would benefit from the second scenario).

This may leave some people in an awkward position of not having the ready cash to pay the increased taxes. However, their basic financial situation is very sound; there are loan programs that will enable these residents to pay their taxes and continue to enjoy the personal and financial advantages of property ownership in Princeton.

At present, these residents have considered the suggestion that they borrow to pay their taxes to be an insult; but it is actually good business, and is exactly what an investor would do in similar circumstances. One should certainly not feel forced to sell just because the investment has proved so successful thus far!

Alas, there are those who have been hurt by these changes in the real estate market. For example, a case can be made that those who did not own their homes have been hurt; with prices at their current levels, and interest rates at 17 percent, many people who do not now own may never be able to do so.

One can argue that any financial support that the community wishes to extend to those hurt by the current real estate situation — through tax reductions or whatever — should be directed at those who cannot afford property ownership at all, rather than considering benefits for those who already own property that has been appreciating wildly in value. Giving special tax abatements to people who have made such a large paper profit from their investments cannot be justified from any coherent political position.

Princeton's long-term property owners deserve the truth about their basically excellent financial situation, together with some help in making the adjustments. If we panic them by telling them that they have been "drastically hurt," we do them a great disservice.

Worse still, if we convince them to stop paying their taxes altogether, giving the local governments great grief, we are encouraging them to "kill the goose that laid the golden egg." This is because the probable effect of a "tax revolt" in Princeton would be to reduce the quality of public services, such as schools, libraries, senior citizen resources.

It is the quality of these facilities that has made Princeton so desirable, and has therefore caused the great increase in the property values. If you reduce the quality of the facilities, then the prices may stop appreciating. Do our senior citizens really want this result?

It is simply untrue that these residents have been "drastically hurt;" the truth is that they have been rudely inconvenienced. To say that they have been "drastically hurt" is not in their best interest, is leading no one to rational thought or action, and is irresponsible as far as the future of the community is concerned.

Council Short Sighted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In reference to the letter regarding the financing of the day time Paramedics for the Princeton First Aid Squad, I cannot understand why the Borough Council is so short sighted as to not do their share in financing the splendid work of the two day time paid workers. If they had ever experienced the need for the expert care these people give during the day time hours I'm sure they and the citizens of the borough would gladly share in the expense.

Do they realize that many of the daytime calls are in the Borough and that the curtailment of this service would mean that they would not receive the prompt attention that so often is the saving of a life?

I have called on the First Aid Squad twice this year and cannot praise them enough! Please forgive the errors, but I am suffering from two fractured wrists and this is my first attempt at typing since April.

I hope that others who feel as I do will write and that the Borough will include the First Aid Squad in their yearly budget.

More Income from PCH.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

More income for Princeton Borough will result from the construction of the PCH project for the elderly on the Spring Street site than from any other building at this same spot permitted by the Zoning Ordinance. The Tax Assessor's estimate of annual revenues from other buildings as well as the Princeton Community Housing project are:

1) PCH housing and commercial rental space for the Borough: $64,000 — ALL OF WHICH STAYS IN THE BOROUGH.

2) A 5 story building, part office, part residential by a private developer with no parking provided: $32,660 will stay in the Borough.

3) A 3 story building, no residential with no parking provided: $17,576 will remain in the Borough.

4) A small, non-residential building with 60 parking spaces: $17,766 will stay in the Borough.

5) A 1 floor retail, 3.5 floors residential building with all parking provided: $24,164 will remain in the Borough.

The reason for the differences is that, of the total taxes collected by the Borough from private property owners, only about 40 percent stays in the Borough with the remaining 60 percent going to the County Government and to the School Board. ALL THE REVENUES FROM THE PCH PROJECT FOR THE ELDERLY WILL STAY IN THE BOROUGH!

At present, the parking lot yields about $27,000 per year. Leaving it as it is loses significant revenues for the Borough in the case of the PCH building as opposed to other options. We have the rare opportunity of solving some very serious housing problems with the blessings of HUD and providing the greatest revenues for the Borough as well.

Princeton Citizens should think carefully before signing any petition to put the garage bond up for referendum and should weigh the consequences carefully. Most substantial buildings on this Spring Street site will require parking help in the form of a garage. Delaying now will only insure higher building costs at some future time and probably remove a most important source of ever increasing income from the PCH project for the elderly to the Borough which we all know would be a relief for all Borough tax payers.

Warning by Squad Member

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a member of Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, and more importantly as a citizen of the community, I'd like to forewarn the residents of a vital service which is in danger of being cut. The First Aid Squad has a paramedic program which began last year and has proved to be effective. There are two paid paramedics who work during the week day to cover calls and a volunteer crew available at night.

The paramedics are always with the ambulance during the day which makes for a good responding time. They are also trained to use the $25,000 life-mobile equipment. This equipment allows for more care to be given to a patient at the scene rather than losing what could be vital time in transporting a patient immediately.

Last year, when the program was initiated, it was agreed that the Borough would put up one-third of the cost while the Township would pay the other two-thirds. This meant the Borough put in about $11,000, whereas the Township was left with approximately a $22,000 bill. Obviously, there is a slight discrepancy here especially when 57 percent of the first aid calls are in the Borough.

This year the cost of the program is $35,000. The Borough had decided they would only allocate $5,000 to this program and the Township would maintain their two-thirds of funding. September 25 is the date that the Borough's money runs out for the paramedic program.

The questions raised are: Will the Township carry the whole program? Will the Borough see the need of the program enough to support it? Will the whole program collapse? Or, will we start charging a fee which would be added to Princeton Medical Center's bill?

As a member of the community it is very comforting to know that there are two highly trained first aiders available during the day. Furthermore, their technological knowledge has been disseminated throughout the squad to the other members.

The need for this program is great. And unfortunately, most of the ones who recognize the need are those who have used the service. It would really be a disgrace to have to call in a neighboring township's ambulance service when we could have a quicker service of our own but aren't concerned enough to support it.

PCH Support Urged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It seems a great misfortune, after all this time and hearing after hearing, etc., to now encounter some late souls who find objection to the PCH housing for the elderly and disabled.

The timing may mean little to those objecting. However, it presents a horrendous problem for the housing constituency, those who have so little time.

Having worked and lived in the community close to 40 years, I suddenly found my income reduced to social security disability due to recurring cancer. On top of this, my residence of 13 years was unexpectedly put on the market and sold by the landlord.

It is impossible for me to find alternate housing on my present income and I find myself forced to sleep in a friend's living room. Needless to say, this is a tremendous imposition on their privacy as well as uncomfortable and awkward for me.

The only ray of hope was the PCH residence that was to take approximately two years for completion. Now with the rug about to be pulled out on getting construction started this year, it could mean that I (and others) will not live long enough to enjoy a little basic security and comfort at the end of our lives.

life-support system as the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad should have to depend on donations and precarious municipal budgets. I cannot believe that a community like Princeton is unable or unwilling to support such a service. Perhaps what the Rescue Squad does around the clock is not fully understood and appreciated. Yet anyone can need its help at any time.

I certainly never thought it would happen to me. Yet, last month when I had what seemed like classic symptoms of a heart attack, our doctor sent the First Aid and Rescue Squad to take me to the Emergency Room. It arrived promptly. Kevin Kelly checked my vital signs and attached a heart monitor. On his portable phone he called the hospital and reported my condition. The other four welltrained members of the Squad transferred me to the ambulance. On the way Kevin Kelly watched the monitor, kept the hospital in touch with my condition, and was prepared to give any emergency treatment necessary.

From the time he arrived at our house until he left me with our doctor, Kevin Kelly was at my side. Consequently in the Emergency Department the nurses and laboratory technicians were standing by ready with tests, our doctor had already arranged for a room in Special Care, and before my husband left for home our doctor was able to give him the results of the tests, and could assure him that I was all right. The disturbance turned out to be something other than a heart attack. But if it had been, I'm sure that without this care I might not have had a chance to survive.

Why should not such a service be respected and paid for as any other professional service is paid for? We would gladly have seen the charges on our Emergency Room hospital bill. Undoubtedly those charges would be repaid by Medicare and Medicaid for most users. Isn't there some way of doing this — and soon? We cannot afford any curtailment of the service nor the loss of two valuable paramedics, without whom there would be no service. The healthiest man or woman in Princeton cannot predict at what moment his or her life may depend on the speedy and professional services of the First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Robson's Work Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Elizabeth Hill's letter in TOWN TOPICS (August 19) concerning Stuart Robson and the Township Tax Office expresses the opinion, I am sure, of hundreds of Princetonians who have recently had contact with these. I'd like to add something more.

When my husband and I moved to Princeton 3 years ago, neither of us had ever lived in a house before, only in apartments. We didn't know how to make a tax appeal and what facts would be pertinent. I found Mr. Robson extremely helpful in this matter.

He called to my attention details that I would never have known about and was exceptionally courteous throughout. I was so impressed that I have written about him in all my correspondence to family and friends. Thank you indeed, Mr. Robson.

It Can Happen to You.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing this letter hoping to shed some light on how much we need the Paramedics in Princeton.

I know there are some who say, "It can't happen to me, I will never need their services." How wrong they can be.

My husband was fortunate enough to have the two Paramedics on duty when the call came through at seven in the morning. Prompt consideration attention for my husband saved the day for me. They happen to be the Lifeline between home and the Hospital.

We should and can keep our Paramedics with the First Aid Squad; who knows, it may be your life they will save. I know I will never forget.

sports-type car struck the cyclist and then continued on without stopping. He transported the victim to Montgomery Township from where Mr. Schiff was taken by the Montgomery First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center for treatment of abrasions and contusions.

Car Is Totaled. Tracy S. Alexander, 20, of Bordentown "totaled" his 1972 sedan last week when his car went out of control on the Great Road.

He was treated at the Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the eye; his passenger, Alvesta Dukes, 25, of Trenton, complained of pain in her arm and hand.

Mr. Alexander told police that he was rounding a curve near the intersection of The Great Road West when a car coming in the opposite direction blinded him with its lights. He turned to avoid the oncoming car, he said, and lost control. His car mounted the guard rail and went off the roadway.

Ptl. Gaylord, who investigated the 4:47 a.m. accident, noted that his investigation revealed that Mr.

Alexander was exceeding the speed limit. He ticketed him for failing to keep right.

Fails to Stop. Roosevelt Kennedy, 75, 21 Lytle Street, was issued a summons for failing to observe a stop sign, following a two-car accident last week on Route 206 at Hilltop Drive.

Mr. Kennedy told Ptl. Jack Petrone Jr. that he had stopped for the stop sign and had proceeded into the intersection, failing to see a car on his left on Route 206 operated by Randolph Redelico, 28, of Somerville.

Mr. Redelico slammed on his brakes, leaving 80 feet of skid marks, but was unable to stop in time. His car, which had to be towed, contained four passengers — two of whom sustained injuries. Eight-year-old Tim Redelico of Belle Mead sustained lacerations of the face, while Wendy Redelico, 28, complained of head injuries. Mr. Kennedy was uninjured.

PRINCETON BOROUGH-TOWNSHIP TAX REVOLT COMMITTEE

HOW CAN THIS HAPPEN IN PRINCETON? WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Trenton Times (Reprint) August 19, 1981

House falling apart, valued at $168,000

By DIANA KELLY
Staff Writer

PRINCETON - The house has a hospital parking lot at its rear and an interior of falling ceilings, peeling paint and a kitchen stripped to the bare essentials.

The lady of the house said she barely missed injury when the ceiling in the bathroom fell a couple of years ago, and what was once her daughter's bedroom is no longer fit for habitation.

The wooden floor in the living room has just begun to swell, a signal of even further deterioration in a house where 10 years of periodic repairs to the slate roof have failed to permanently halt destruction of the ceilings in the second-floor rooms.

BUT THIS SAME house is assessed at $168,800 on the tax rolls at Princeton Borough Hall.

The two-story residence on Jefferson Road in the borough has for 35 years been home to a couple, now in their 80s, who fear that even a sorcerer could not stretch their fixed income of $13,000 to meet the new tax bill that comes with the new assessment for their property — $5,190.89.

The same house was listed on the tax rolls at $100,000 last year, and the tax bill came to $2,594.76.

If they have to move, the owners of the home know one thing for certain—they could never fetch a purchase price anywhere near the figure assigned to the property by the North Jersey firm of P.R.C. Jacobs Inc., which was hired to conduct revaluation in the borough and the township.

BUT THE RESIDENTS of the house say a representative of that firm never conducted an interior inspection of their home—an inspection that is specified in the borough and township contracts with P.R.C. Jacobs.

The couple asked that their names not appear in this article, but they wanted to have their story told.

"Maybe it will do all of the other people some good," the woman said.

Horror stories associated with last year's revaluation in the township and the borough are just starting to float to the surface. Thousands of residents in the two municipalities have filed appeals with the Mercer County Board of Tax Appeals, charging that unrealistic assessments were arrived at without benefit of interior inspections.

Although the company was called yesterday by The Trenton Times, the employees of P.R.C. Jacobs who oversaw the Princeton revaluations were unable to come to the telephone. A secretary said the employees were tied up with appeals from a North Jersey community where a similar revaluation had been conducted.

"WE'RE GOING to have to try and find some money somewhere," said the owner of the Jefferson Road home. He and his wife are presently caught in the Catch-22 of appealing a property assessment. To file the appeal they must pay their third-quarter tax bill, which is based on the new assessment. That bill is $1,526.76, compared to $686.76 for the same quarter last year.

"We filed the appeal, but we haven't paid the bill," he said.

He said he was "speechless" when he saw the new assessment.

"I thought it over. If all they did was walk around the house inside here, they could never come up with that amount. And they never did that. This home is a shell, has been for some time," he said.

He and his wife are among the 200 families who have joined the Princeton Borough-Township Tax Revolt Committee. The committee has raised $2,500 to date, said chairman Martin Lombardo.

Princeton attorney Richard Altman has been hired by the committee and is looking at ways to challenge the revaluation in general and the assessments as performed by P.R.C. Jacobs.

FACT:

Remember, this tax problem is a local problem. Both Borough Council and Township Committee voted for revaluation and contracted with the P.R.C. Jacobs firm to carry it out. Both governing bodies accepted the report before forwarding it to the County. Put pressure on your local governments to void this new assessment. Supporting evidence shows that great numbers of mistakes are being uncovered and many property details have been misrepresented.

LET YOUR OBJECTIONS BE HEARD!!

Borough Council Meeting — Thursday, August 27

Township Committee Meeting — Wednesday, September 9

NULLIFY REVALUATION:

The law firm of Pellitieri, Rabstein and Altman has been retained to represent the Princeton Township/Borough Tax Revolt. We need your help. Our attorney has requested that we gather facts in order to file our suit IMMEDIATELY. We don't have much time. In order to overturn this evaluation, it is important to know all of the mistakes made by those who compiled data for the report. For example, according to the terms of the contract, every home should have been inspected, inside and out. If the Jacob's firm failed to carry out this or any other requirement in regard to your home, please call us as soon as possible on our TAX HOTLINE (924-1760). We will get back to you for further details.

BE PREPARED:

Every effort is being made to help all property owners in our community who have or have not filed TAX APPEALS with Mercer County. On Monday, August 31, a special meeting will be held at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club on Terhune Road at 7:30 p.m. Steps you should take in order to prepare for your hearing before the Mercer County Tax Board, which will occur shortly, will be discussed. Our attorney will be there to discuss details.

ACTION NUMBER:

We have retained a TAX HOTLINE NUMBER 924-1760. If you have any questions or if you would like to volunteer your services or make any suggestions, please call. A member of our Committee will return your call.

YOUR RIGHTS:

The LAW does make special provisions for property owners to withhold taxes. Following the meeting on Monday, August 31, our Certified Public Accountant, Lew Parker, III, will meet with all those interested in information on how to legally hold off paying taxes until NEXT JUNE (1982).

PLEASE HELP:

Contributions from property owners in the Borough and the Township are making these efforts possible. We must raise between $6,000 and $8,000 to cover all fees. To date, we have received over $2500 from individual property owners who donated $25 each. If you have not had the opportunity to contribute, your $25 would be greatly appreciated. All checks should be made payable to: Princeton Township/Borough Tax Revolt Committee and mailed to George Pinelli, 214 Valley Road, Princeton, NJ 08540.

We hope that we can be helpful to each and every one of you, not only those who appealed, but those who could not.

Yours truly,
Martin P. Lombardo - Co-Chairman

Yours truly,
George Pinelli - co-chairman

TWO ARE FINED

In Criminal Court, Two Princeton area residents were fined last week by Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. in criminal court.

Daniel Emann, 4571 Province Line Road, was fined $35, placed on a year's probation and received a suspended 30-day sentence for trespassing. He also received a 30-day suspended sentence and a year's probation for theft and a conditional discharge for one year for possession of under 25 grams of a controlled dangerous substance.

David M. Hill, 135 Texas Avenue, Lawrenceville, was fined $35, placed on probation for one year and issued a 30-day suspended sentence for possession of a controlled dangerous substance. A second charge of criminal attempt was dismissed at the request of the state.

In Township traffic court last week, William A. Turner, 43 Leigh Avenue, was fined $40 for careless driving.

34 BIRTHS LISTED

Twin Girls Included. The births of 20 girls and 14 boys were reported last week by the Princeton Medical Center. Twin daughters were born August 16 to Mr. and Mrs.

Children No Longer Riding Bus to School May Need Directions to Guarded Routes

With the closing of Johnson Park School and the re-assignment of its pupils, many children who once were bused to school must now walk or bike.

It is suggested that parents of these children — particularly those living between Stockton and Mountain, Elm and Bayard — work out in advance with their children the safest route to follow. Bike routes are clearly marked. Listed here are the intersections where crossing guards will be stationed: Bayard Lane and Birch; Birch and John; Valley Road and Witherspoon; Valley and Jefferson; Community Park School and Witherspoon; Nassau and University Place; Witherspoon and Wiggins; Nassau and Chestnut; Nassau and Harrison; Moore and Wiggins; Chestnut and Hamilton; Franklin and Jefferson; Franklin and Moore; Franklin and Harrison; Witherspoon and Franklin; Prospect and Harrison; Harrison and Sycamore; Riverside and Prospect; Franklin and Snowden Lane; Abernathy Drive and Magnolia Lane, Littlebrook School Drive, Abernathy and Snowden; Moore and Guyot Avenue; Guyot and Walnut Lane; Walnut and Franklin; Walnut and Valley Road.

Michael Viola of 46 Hillhurst Avenue in Mercerville.

Other daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Isser, 408 Kellington Drive, East Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Tobish, 309 Yardley Commons, Yardley; Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Belets, 23 Windyway Way, Titusville all August 14; Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Connell, 180 Franklin Corner Road, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Yves Leger, 9 Westerlea Avenue, Hightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Chionese Jr., 974 Olden Avenue, Hamilton, all August 15; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Montross, 26 Wilmore Drive, Hightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Suomi, 255 Varsity Avenue; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McMullin, 7 Petunia Drive, North Brunswick, all August 16.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Prusik, 22 Lake Drive, Roosevelt; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Skelton, 22-13 Hunters Glen, Plainsboro, both August 17; Mr. and Mrs. T. BUDGET CUT HEARING

What Will State Do? A public meeting to discuss New Jersey's plans for coping with Federal cuts in social service funds will be held Wednesday, September 2, at 1 p.m. in the State Museum auditorium, 205 W. State Street, Trenton.

Interested citizens, consumers and agencies that provide social services in Mercer, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean and Somerset Counties are invited to attend and to comment. This central New Jersey meeting is one of four public forums scheduled under the auspices of the Social Services Block Grant Steering Committee and the State Title XX Advisory Council.

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK
By J. Drew Foster,
Entomologist

WHITE GRUBS

Lawn insects are continuing to damage lawns and will persist until frost. Of these pests, white grubs are the ones best controlled now.

White grubs include the immatures of two damaging beetle species, Japanese beetles and European chafers. These grubs live in the soil, feeding on the roots of grasses and a variety of other vegetable and ornamental plants. They are soft-bodied, creamy-white insects with brown heads and are about 1 inch long, full grown.

White grubs in high populations are very damaging to lawns and also attract nuisance mammals such as moles and skunks which eat them. Mole tunnels in lawns are generally a good indication of a grub infestation.

Where grubs are suspected, a survey of one square foot pieces of sod dug 2-3 inches deep will reveal the level of infestation. If 3 or more grubs per square foot are found, a pesticide application is advisable.

A variety of effective synthetic pesticides are available for both liquid or granular applications. They all require sufficient volumes of water for saturation of the soil.

A bacterial insecticide sold as Milky Spore Disease is also available, however it generally takes 2-3 years to become established and reach maximum control. Milky spores should not be used in conjunction with other chemical grub controls or where infestations need to be reduced quickly.

Call us soon for a survey of your lawn and an estimate for grub control. Now until mid-September is the best time for applying white grub controls.

allocations will be presented by Timothy L. Carden, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Human Services. The convenor and moderator will be William Waldman, Director of the County of Middlesex Department of Human Services and a member of the Executive Committee of the Social Services Block Grant Steering Committee.

"The Social Services Block Grant Steering Committee anticipates a very large turnout to react to Commissioner Carden's proposed allocations in response to Federal budget cuts," says Larry Lockhart, director of the Department of Human Resources of Union County and chairman of the Steering Committee.

"Our intent is to make the hearing process available to everyone. The commissioner has not finalized the budget cuts and public interest groups should make their reactions to the proposed plans known to the commissioner, who will attend all four public meetings."

Those who want to make statements will be asked to sign up at the door when they arrive. Oral presentations will be limited to three minutes. Those making presentations are asked to bring written copies of their remarks to leave with department representatives. After consideration of public comment, the commissioner will issue final allocations on September 15.

Copies of proposed allocations are available from the Council of Community Services, 924-5865, Valley Road Building, Princeton.

COLLEGE TALK PLANNED

By Smith Students. Several Smith College undergraduates will talk with incoming freshmen about life at Smith College Tuesday at 7:30 at the home of Adrienne Snyderman, 24 Balcort Drive. Among the topics will be academic demands, social life, and extracurricular activities.

Sponsored by the Princeton Area Smith College Club, this program is held each year before the fall semester to acquaint incoming students with various aspects of the undergraduate experience at

FROM COMMODITIES.....

To Princeton High. For the second year in a row, Commodities Corporation has presented Apple computers to Princeton High School for the school's computer-literacy program. The program will become an integral part of the school's curriculum this year.

Through the interest of its president, F. Helmut Weymar, Commodities has paid for five Apples and color monitors. The most recent acquisition consists of two computers, disc drive, and color monitors.

The new curriculum will be under the direction of Toni Nielsen, computer center coordinator. Each student in the first three years of mathematics, will receive computer instruction in the computer center once every six days.

The Apples will also be used by the guidance department for student inventories, by department heads for book inventory and by teachers who want to develop study aids.

SHIFTS ANNOUNCED

In Lenox Management. Frank E. Grzelecki has been elected president and chief operating officer of Lenox, Incorporated. He succeeds John S. Chamberlin of Fairway Drive as president. Mr. Chamberlin has been elected chairman of the board of directors, a currently unfilled position, and will continue as chief executive officer.

It is anticipated that Mr. Grzelecki will be elected a director of Lenox at the company's next board meeting in September.

Since 1980, he has been corporate group vice president of Textron, Incorporated, responsible for the Speidel, Shaeffer-Eaton, and Burkhart & Randall divisions. Previously he was president of the Gorham division of Textron.

Mr. Grzelecki joined Textron in 1968 as a product manager in the Speidel division. He subsequently on Thursday, September 2, became marketing director for Speidel, and in 1972 director for Tom Hopkins, became the vice president of author of "How to Master the Art of Selling" and trainer of more than 500,000 sales professionals, will conduct the presentation.

The two audio-visual workshops will include qualification of prospects and closing techniques which can be used in any selling situation. The seminar is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area. Registration fee is $5, and a cash bar will be available. Call 921-7676 for information and reservations.

Mr. Chamberlin joined Lenox in 1976 as president and chief executive officer. Under his direction Lenox's sales have grown from $135 million to approximately $240 million. Prior to his Lenox experience, he was general manager of General Electric's housewares audio electronics business division and was a corporate vice president of the General Electric Company.

SALES TALK SLATED

MERRILL LYNCH INVITES YOU TO CONSIDER...

Real Estate as part of your investment or retirement plan portfolio in the 1980's.

The general return characteristics as well as the potential risks associated with an investment in real estate together with the details concerning a specific real estate investment opportunity will be discussed at a Merrill Lynch seminar on behalf of a real estate limited partnership which will invest primarily in new and existing income-producing commercial, industrial, and residential real properties. Units are suitable for investment by both individuals and tax-exempt entities, such as IRAs, Keogh Plans, SEP's and Pension/Profit Sharing Plans. The Units are being offered to investors at $1,000 per Unit, with a minimum purchase of five Units for individual investors and three Units for tax-exempt entities.

There is no charge for the seminar. However, as space will be limited, we request that you fill out the coupon below and return it. Should you want to learn more about this investment opportunity, but find that your schedule does not permit you to attend this seminar, please note this information on the coupon or call 609-924-7699.

We look forward to seeing you at the seminar.

This announcement is neither an offer to sell nor a solicitation of an offer to buy limited partnership interests in connection with such real estate investment opportunity. This offer is made by Prospectus only, which will be distributed at the seminar.

Neither the Attorney General of the State of New York nor the Attorney General of the State of New Jersey nor the Bureau of Securities of the State of New Jersey has passed on or endorsed the merits of this offering. Any representation to the contrary is unlawful.

Date: Sept. 9, 1981 Time: 7:00 p.m.

Place: The Nassau Inn, Palmer Square, Princeton, N.J.

NINE GAMES LISTED
For PHS Football Team.
The 1981 Princeton High School football team will play the same nine opponents it faced last fall.

The season's opener will be September 26 at home against South Brunswick. The rest of the Schedule: Oct. 3, Ewing, away; 9, Hun, away; 17, Hightstown; 24, West Windsor, away; 31, McCorristin.
Nov. 7, Lawrence; 13, Notre Dame, away; and 20, Trenton.

All games will be played on Saturday with the exception of a Friday contest at 3:30 with Hun and a Friday night game at 7 with Notre Dame — the Little Tigers' only game under the lights.

Although the schedule will be the same, there will be one major difference. The team will have a new coach for the first time in seven years.

Bill Cirullo has taken over the reins from Jim Beachell, who last year guided the Blue and White to an 8-1 regular season record — the best ever in his six-year tenure.
Beachell lost his coaching position when his industrial arts teaching position was eliminated in the wake of budgetary cutbacks. Cirullo had served as his top assistant.

With four 1980 NCAA Division I playoff tournament teams on its regular season schedule, the Princeton University soccer team will face a demanding 15-game card in the upcoming campaign. The season will open on Wednesday Sept. 16 at 3:30 p.m. when the Tigers meet Swarthmore College in an away contest. The first six contests are away matches;
the first home game is against Columbia, October 9.

Following an 8-4-3 season in 1980, which included a six-game unbeaten streak at the close of the campaign, the Tigers will be seeking a return trip to the NCAA post-season tournament after a year's absence. Challenging opponents on the '81 schedule include Hartwick (Sept. 26),

Philadelphia Textile (Oct. 6),
Columbia (Oct. 9) and Cornell (Nov. 20), all of whom qualified for last year's NCAA tournament.

Jay
Bernard

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Here's a surprising fact... NO team in the National League in baseball has been able to win the pennant 3 straight years since way back in the 1940s... Last National League team to win 3 straight flags was the Cardinals in 1942-43-44... Since then, the Yankees, Orioles and A's have all won 3 straight pennants in the American League.

Can you guess which player scored the most touchdowns in the National Football League last season?...
Answer is Billy Sims of Detroit who led the NFL
by scoring 16 touchdowns.

I bet you don't know who would pay your salary if you were disabled. Your employer might...
However... check with us to make sure.

One of the oddities in sports is that while pro football is the most lucrative sport of all, its players get the lowest average pay of any of the major pro team sports... National Football League players make less, on the average, than players in big league baseball, the National Basketball Association or the National Hockey League.

In addition to the Columbia and Cornell matches, the Tigers will meet Yale Nov. 13, to round out the '81 home slate against Ivy League rivals. Princeton's Ivy League away contests will be at Dartmouth, Sept. 19, Brown, Oct. 2, Harvard, Oct. 24 and Pennsylvania, Oct. 30.

"Undoubtedly, the strong competition from our Ivy League opponents and local rivals, such as Swarthmore, East Stroudsburg State, Philadelphia Textile, Lehigh, Rutgers and Rider, will test our mettle throughout the season," said Bill Muse, who's entering his ninth year as head coach of the Tigers. "I'm looking for improvement this year since we have 15 returning lettermen and an outstanding group of freshman recruits."

According to Muse, freshmen Yuri Fishman, a high school All-America from West Hartford, Conn., who scored 96 goals over the past two years, John Lamping, an All-American halfback from St. Louis, Roy Stanley, a high school teammate of Lamping, and Richard Kraemer, a standout midfielder from Lawrenceville, are projected starters when the campaign opens this fall.

"This corps of recruits is as talented as the class of seniors that was graduated last spring," said Muse. Among the eight lettermen lost were All-Ivy League defenders Charlie Stillitano and Scott Messel.

Returning to pace the Tiger attack in '81 are twin brothers Jim and John Bowen of Hamilton Township. John, who was named to the 1981 All-Festival soccer team after leading the East to the gold medal at the National Sports Festival in Syracuse, N.Y., has been named team captain for the upcoming season. Jim has led the Tigers in scoring for three consecutive years and is now third on Princeton's all-time scoring list.

"Starting off the campaign with six straight road matches presents us with quite a challenge," says Muse. "A strong early season performance from our freshmen and veterans is a must if we are to be a force in the Ivy League this season."

The Schedule: Sept. 16, at Swarthmore; Sept. 19, at Dartmouth; Sept. 26, at Hartwick; Sept. 30, at East Stroudsburg St.; Oct. 2, at

COACHES NAMED
For Flying Fish. The YMCA has announced the swimming coaches for the 1981-82 Flying Fish Age Group Swim Team. They are Bob Clayton from Lutherville, Md. and Tony Le Pann from Lawrenceville. They will work as co-coaches instead of the traditional head and assistant coach.

Bob Clayton is a senior at Princeton University majoring in psychology. He has been swimming for the past 16 years and was a four year letter winner in both high school, which included seven state championships, and at Princeton University. He also trained under the U.S. Olympic coach George Haines for six months and has assisted many teams as a coach.

Tony Le Pann received her bachelor of science from Trenton State this spring with a major in elementary education. She has swum for many years and as a member of the Trenton State College swim team, was named All-American in the butterfly in 1981. She has served as the head swim coach at the Lenape Swim Club this summer.

Try outs will be held for returning swimmers on September 15; new girls, September 16; and new boys, September 17. All sessions will be from 7-9 p.m.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED
For Girls Gymnastics Team. The Princeton YWCA competitive gymnastics team will hold try-outs Thursday, September 10, for girls aged six to eight from 4 to 5 and for those nine and older from 5 to 7. This team is designed for the highly-skilled gymnasts who will compete according to the International Federation of Gymnastics code of points. The girls will learn the National Compulsories.

The gymnasts will be divided into intermediate, advanced beginner and beginner (6-8 years).

For more information call Pat A. DiCocco, gymnastic director or Debi Coleman, coach, 924-5571, Ext. 21.

REGISTRATION SET
For Fall Soccer Program. Applications will be mailed this week to all those who played soccer last spring, prior to the start of the fall season of the Princeton Soccer Association. The fee is $15 per player.

Games will be played every Saturday from September 12 through November 7, and girls and boys in grades one through eight are eligible. Additional applications and further information may be obtained by calling Jean Tabor at 921-9442. Registration will be held at the Dinky Station next Saturday, Sept. 5, from 9 to 1. Those interested are urged to register either by mail or in person by September 8.

ROUND ROBIN PLANNED
In Tennis This Fall. The Princeton Community Tennis Program will sponsor, in cooperation with the Princeton Recreation Department, round robin doubles under the lights at the Princeton Community Park courts.

Play will run weekday evenings from 7:30-9 for five weeks this fall.

Players with a rating of 3.0-4.5 are eligible to register for the 1½ hours of play each week. Women may choose either Mondays or Wednesdays; men Tuesdays or Thursdays. Because partners will rotate each week, doubles pairs are not necessary.

Since enrollment is limited, early registration is recommended. Those may register at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place, or call 924-4343 for further details.

This is how much station wagon you should expect for $12,000 today.

From the second-largest car-maker in Europe comes the Peugeot Diesel Wagon.

The $11,660* price includes power-assisted steering and brakes, Michelin steel-belted radial tires, roof rack, and reclining front seats.

So well is the Peugeot Diesel Wagon equipped that the only extra-cost options are automatic transmission, air conditioning, metallic paint, and a radio.

Fuel economy of the Peugeot Diesel Wagon is 28 EPA estimated mpg, 34 estimated highway mpg, with the standard manual transmission.

The load capacity of the Peugeot Diesel Wagon—over half a ton—is exceeded only by the largest full-size wagons. No other imported station wagon comes close.

Also available: diesel, turbo-charged diesel, and fuel-injected gasoline 5-passenger sedans, priced from $15,510 to $10,990*.

See us for details of Peugeot's limited warranties.

*Based on manufacturer's P.O.E. suggested retail prices. Actual prices may vary according to local dealer. Destination charges, state and local taxes, dealer preparation, if any, and license fees are extra.

Use EPA estimated mpg for comparison purposes. The mileage you get may vary with trip length, speed, weather, and condition of car. Actual highway mileage will probably be less.

Princeton Artist Finds Creative Excitement in Plastic Sculpture; Working with Thin Flexible Fibers, She Can Even Make a Tree

PLASTIC, OUTDOORS AND IN: Which trees are real? Leonora Florian Barnard stands in a grove of live trees—and her open-work plastic creations. ("The squirrels try to break off a branch—no luck!"). A light snow-fall sharpens the outlines of the plastic trunks. Indoors, a row of Moebius strips made of plastic with an old African looping stitch joins a free-form plastic floor lamp.

"Plastic has excitement, brilliance, luminiscence, yet it can be lacy as a spider-web...it has strength and delicacy, and it can be draped with a sensuous softness..."

A kitschy city cousin, scorned by country purists who disdain whatever is non-natural, plastic has been discovered by a young weaver who has, herself, the elegance, luminiscence and creative flexibility she attributes to her favorite material.

Leonora Florian Barnard is so excited by plastic that she works ten-hour days, gets up in the middle of the night to race downstairs to her loom, refers to herself with a radiant smile, as "driven!"

She has made a 4x12-foot wall hanging with a six-inch shag, in ombre shades that seem quiet and reflective until the light catches them and makes them dance. It is hanging in the Johnson and Johnson Plaza Two building in New Brunswick.

For this hanging, she used the rya technique employed by generations of artisans, and the vinyl-coated polyester yarn of the 20th century. This "yarn" is thin, like fingering yarn. Sleek and flexible, without wiriness, it comes in a dazzle of various colors.

"The vinyl is extruded over the polyester yarn, like jelly," Mrs. Barnard explains, "the color is solid right through. It is weather-resistant, so you could hang it outside — and it's about time we had some softer things outdoors. Most outdoor sculpture is so rigid."

"When the wind catches the fibers, they undulate and their sheen is great in the sunshine. Imagine a wall-hanging you could hang on an outside wall!"

ART In Princeton

Vinyl-coated copper wire, in contrast to the polyester yarn, allows a pattern to stay in shape. Employing an ancient technique called "African looping," used for centuries to make fishnets, Mrs. Barnard made seven Moebius strips (see photo) in delicate, whispering colors. "Continuum" is her name for the group.

The same wire makes a basket, very free of form and executed in shades of rose and rust. The traditional "Lazy Squaw Stitch" was used.

A 20x20-foot studio, 17 feet to the ceiling, holds Mrs. Barnard's loom. The loom is 12 feet wide, 10 and one-half feet high, lit by an eight-foot-wide skylight. Architect J. Robert Hillier designed the house around the loom.

Right now, it holds one section, seven and one-half by 18 feet, of a three-section hanging. The weight of each section, 40 to 45 pounds, makes it almost imperative to fashion the whole in three parts. Completed, the hanging will cover a lobby wall completely, but it could be used against an outdoor wall as well.

"I made it for myself," Mrs. Barnard says softly, pointing to the brilliant yellow "sun" and green-blue shades, "As I sit outdoors, I see colors. This hanging is inspired by the shadows of trees and the rays of sun that come through."

"Natural colors and synthetic material — the combination flatters both."

Early Start with Fiber. She cannot remember a time when she hasn't been working with fiber. Growing up in a family of artists and scientists, she painted when her mother did because the colors were there. She began to crochet when she was four, making clothes for her doll, growing bored and shaping her crochet-work into forms no doll ever knew.

By the age of 12, she was a portraitist. As a student, she studied commercial art and did fashion illustration.

"Originally, of course, I worked in natural fibers, but I was never really inspired and, somehow, always searching."

It was in 1974 that she discovered plastic fiber. Almost certainly her husband was part of the discovery — he is a vice-president of J. & J.'s Chicopee non-woven fabrics division — and when he comes home, she greet him with an excited, "Did you bring me anything?"

Her materials are industrial plastic and she buys them from the factory. One day she discovered slit polypropylene film and netting and from these substances made the floor sculpture shown in the photo. A pale, other-worldly grey, it glows quietly when the hidden 50-watt bulb inside is turned on. Unlike other plastics, this one is sun shy. Outdoors, Mrs. Barnard says, it breaks down like the webbing of a lawn chair.

Knitting in Plastic. She even knits in plastic. "Serpentine," 21 feet long, was knit on a round needle and varies in diameter from 12 to 30 inches. Here, using double or triple ply, she combined colors; turquoise and light green for shock effect, grey and yellow for "an unusual mutation of both."

Draped at the side of a window, "Serpentine" can be arranged according to whim, and to bring out certain of its rainbow colors. It would, Mrs. Barnard thinks, be spectacular outside, undulating and shifting with the breeze and the sun.

In fact, Mrs. Barnard herself has "made" a tree. Using black polypropylene and bottle-green Saran webbing, she makes tree trunks, suspending them by fine wire from natural trees.

"The first time a wind blew, these trees behaved like wind-socks," she recalls, "now I have them anchored into the ground with long staples."

"I use traditional techniques in untraditional ways, using untraditional material. With wool, you can foresee what will happen. But with plastic, there is no pattern-book. You yourself must find out the limitations of the material: is it flexible? strong? can it go outdoors?"

"I love to have the weavings outdoors, out into the light. Sunshine is a marvellous enhancer: with it, a weaving can give you a lift for the day, or make you laugh, or bring you serenity."

-Katharine H. Bretnall

OPEN HOUSE

Theatre, Art Association. Free balloons and music, a chance to pop into the prop shop, sculpture on the lawn, portrait demonstrations — the combination of McCarter Theatre and the Princeton Art Association has infinite possibilities.

You'll be able to explore them all on Sunday, September 13 when the two organizations join, as McCarter says, "to highlight the performing and visual arts in Princeton."

During the afternoon — 1-5 — McCarter will hold Open House. You can tour backstage, see a demonstration of stage lighting and participate in the Grand Re-opening of the McCarter Ticket Office. If you're young enough, you may sign up to audition for one of the children's roles in this year's production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol."

At the University's Armory on Washington Road — limousine service provided — there are the theatre's costume and prop shops, with real bowls of fake fruit, real petticoats and fake swords, real sinks and even Custer's last stand.

There will be actors, too. McCarter promises that the acting company for "Just Between Ourselves" (the season's opener) will chat with visitors during rehearsal break.

Upstairs, representatives of the Princeton Ballet, Princeton University Concert Series, Creative Theatre Unlimited, Princeton Arts Council and the Shoestring Players of Rutgers University, will tell you about their 1981-82 season. The Art Association's first major show of the year, featuring the 1980 award winners, will be on view on the upper level.

Outdoors, you'll find those free balloons and the music. You can pick up a beer or a soda and something to eat, although McCarter doesn't say exactly what. The sculpture exhibit will be on the theatre lawn, assembled by the Princeton Art Association. The Company Store, still a new venture for McCarter, will have a new line of merchandise including T-shirts and gifts featuring the characters from "A Christmas Carol."

The Ell Farm on Rosedale Road, about 15 minutes from McCarter, is the home of the Art Association studios. Visitors will be able to watch demonstrations in portraiture, graphics, sketching and pottery. A hands-on demonstration has been planned for children.

Faculty of the Art Association will have works on view, and teachers will be on the grounds to answer questions about classes.

PINE BARRENSON FILM

Still Photos on View. More than 100 black and white photographs of the Pine Barrens will go on view this Saturday at the New Jersey State Museum, West State Street, Trenton, after a public preview reception this Friday from 6-9. The exhibit will remain through November 1.

The museum is open from 9 to 4:45 Mondays through Fridays, and 1-5 week-ends and holidays. Admission is free.

Photographers Robert A. Huss and Melanic Walzer took the photographs over a three-year period, as part of a project funded by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

The photographs focus on four dimensions of the Pine Barrens: the land, the people, the culture and the striking differences between the communities of Chatsworth and Friendship.

OBITUARIES

John W. Donaldson Jr., 56, of Leavitt Lane, died August 23 of an apparent heart attack at Community Memorial Hospital in Toms River. Mr. Donaldson retired in 1979 after 12 years as owner and operator of Griggs Corner American service station at Witherspoon and Hulfish streets.

Born in Nanty-Glo, Pa., he was a Princeton resident for more than 35 years. He worked in the plumbing and heating department at Princeton University, and at Nassau Oil, before going into business for himself.

He was past president of Princeton Hook and Ladder Fire Company, where he was a member for more than 25 years; past master of Princeton Lodge No. 38, F. & A.M.; and a member of the Princeton Shrine Club. An Army veteran of World War II, he was a member of the American Legion Post 76. He also served on the Ushers Guild of All Saints Chapel. He was Worthy Patron of the Princeton Chapter No. 91, O.E.S.

Surviving are his wife, Gloria Bonner Donaldson; a son, Craig John Donaldson of Memphis, Tenn.; a daughter, Mrs. Diane Lee Pensky of Hamilton Square; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Donaldson Sr. of Orange City, Fla.; a brother, Thomas Donaldson of Spring, Tex.; four sisters, Agnes Deretz of Nichols, N.Y., Esther Miller of Alexandria, Va., Mary Jane Goodenough of Owego, N.Y., and Madeline T. Donaldson of Seattle, Wash.; and one granddaughter.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. in All Saints Chapel with the Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber officiating. Burial will be in Trinity-All Saints Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Fund.

William H. Dodd, 74, of 123½ John Street, died August 21 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Church Hill, Md., he had lived in Princeton for 34 years. He was employed by the Princeton YMCA and was a member of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mary Dodd of Trenton; two sisters, Mrs. Arrie Kennedy and Mrs. Catherine Goodwyn, both of Wilmington, Del.; a granddaughter; and a friend, Harriet Allison of Princeton.

Services will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Gilbert McKenzie officiating. Burial will be in Wilmington, Del.

Beresford John Hoffmann, 29, of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of Lawrenceville, died August 19 at his home.

Born in Princeton, he lived most of his life in Lawrenceville and graduated from the Lawrenceville School. He was also a graduate of the University of Denver, and was employed in the research department of Southern California Edison.

Son of the late Hugh Hoffman, he is survived by his mother, Mary Jelm Hoffman; three brothers, Hugh Hoffman Jr. of Los Angeles, Kevin R. and Brian K. of Lawrenceville; two sisters, Mrs. Marianne Tukey of Kenyon, R.I., and Mrs. Karen Friedlander of Milwaukee, Wis.

Graveside services will be Friday at 10 a.m. in Lawrenceville Cemetery. The Rev. Robert Beringer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hopewell, will officiate.

Angellina C. Marcoline, 77, of 25 Humbert Street, died August 23 at the Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Pettoranello, Italy, she had lived in Princeton for more than 65 years.

Surviving are her husband, Andrew A. Marcoline; two daughters, Julia T. Marcoline and Emma L. Embley; two brothers, Louis and John Rossi, all of Princeton; two grandchildren; and one great-granddaughter.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Wednesday at St. Paul's Church. Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Curtis Maxwell, a retired employee of the Nassau Inn, died August 18 in Mercer Medical Center. He was 87 years old and had lived in Trenton for 20 years.

Mr. Maxwell was born in Lane, S.C., and was a member of the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church in Trenton.

Surviving are a daughter, Ruthie Brunwon of Trenton; a sister, Rhodie Ravenell of Ewing Township; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The service was held at Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, the Rev. Leon Gipson, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

Elizabeth Lee Jessup, 58, of Atherton, Calif., died August 7 after a long illness.

Mrs. Jessup was an artist and an interior decorator. Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. Hart Anderson Jr. of Princeton, she attended school in Princeton and the Parsons School of Design in New York City.

Surviving are her husband, John Jessup; two sons, Toby and David; a daughter, Deborah; a brother, T. Hart Anderson of Hopewell and a sister, Mrs. Sumner Rulon-Miller Jr. of Pinehurst, N.C.

Charles A. Fambro, 77, of Redding Circle, died August 22 in the Merwick Unit of the Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Macon, Ga., he lived in New York for more than 50 years before moving to Princeton in 1978. He was employed as a salesman with the John Ward Shoe Company in New York, retiring in 1970 after more than 30 years of service.

He was a member of the Prince Hall F. & A.M. Masonic Lodge in New York and was a Boy Scout troop leader in New York.

Surviving are his wife, Anna Craig Fambro; a daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline Dace of Yonkers, N.Y.; a son, John C. Fambro of Princeton; four grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Gilbert McKencie of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Anne Morgao Eckhart, 76, of Pennington, died August 22 in the Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Syracuse, N.Y., she had lived in Pennington for the past 21 years. She was retired from the State Department of Railroad Taxation, where she had worked for 18 years. She was a member of the Titusville Presbyterian Church, the Women's Association, and the Women's Circle of the church.

The wife of the late Frederick A. Eckhart Sr., she is survived by a son, Frederick A. Eckhart Jr.; and three grandchildren, all of Versailles, Ky.

The funeral was held in Pennington, with the Rev. William Schaub, pastor of the Titusville Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Church Cemetery.

LET'S TALK

ABOUT

EVERGREENS IN TROUBLE SHEDDING EXCESS NEEDLES

with Sam De Turo Woodwinds Associates

Every year at this time, tree owners are concerned about needles of Pine, Spruce, Hemlock and Arborvitae turning brown and dropping.

It is normal for these trees to shed their three-year-old needles. But this year due to severe drought and the exceptionally hard winter, many two- and one-year-old needles are being shed because of root injury.

Let the needles remain where they fall, don't rake them up. Needles provide a very necessary mulch tempering the soil, keeping it cool during the heat of summer, shielding it against excessive cold in winter. Such a mulch also conserves soil moisture from evaporation.

If conifers have discarded needles in excess this fall, hope for abundant rainfall before the ground freezes. Where possible water the trees well, then feed with a highly organic, well balanced tree food. The trees will respond with new growth next spring.

Custom Homes By William Bucci Builders, Inc.

Dogwood Hill is a unique residential enclave on the west side of Mount Lucas Road in Princeton Township.

The site is naturally rolling and covered with native dogwoods and large shade trees.

Eleven custom homes will be built on lots of at least three quarters of an acre, in a cluster plan with seven acres of common open space.

William Bucci Builders, Inc., are local builders with a fine record of building quality custom homes in the Princeton area. They will build from their plans or yours. All lots are fully developed with public water, sewer and underground utilities of electric and gas.

Police Pondering What Charges, If Any, To File Against Stray Hot Air Balloonists

What time is the next balloon for Harrison Street? Township police are investigating the landing of a hot air balloon Sunday night at 7:38 in a 67 by 73-foot parking lot on the premises of Dr. Genuino Nazzaro, 181 Harrison Street, at the corner of Franklin.

According to police, the balloon, owned by Sky Promotions, 169 Nassau Street, and piloted by Joseph E. Vil Jr. of 609 Bear Tavern Road, West Trenton, landed for the purpose of exchanging passengers and then took off again. Police added that it was not an emergency landing and that there was no damage to property.

The initial investigation by Ptl. Mario Musso is continuing. "We want to see," commented Chief Frederick Porter, "if there were any violations of federal aeronautics laws." Hot air balloons, Chief Porter conceded, "are all over the place."

"The last time I checked I was informed by the state that private balloon operators generally police themselves," he said. Because of the limited control they have with respect to fuel and wind conditions, "it makes it hard for them to determine when they have to

There have been a few cases, he said, where balloon pilots have used poor judgment — "when they could have landed in a more suitable place." As for balloons being guilty of trespassing when they land on private property, it's hard to prove, observed Chief Porter.

"The owners would have to tell the pilots verbally or have signs out ahead of time." Chief Porter did report that he has been told that the N.J. Division of Aeronautics is trying to tighten loopholes to provide the agency with a little more control with enforcement.

In neighboring Hopewell Township where balloon landing on private property has become an issue, Township Committee there is preparing an ordinance governing balloonists. It would be the first of its kind in the state.

A member of Committee commented at a meeting attended by concerned residents that it is illegal for balloons to land on private property without permission except in the case of emergency.

newer ambulance — are the goals of a drive being started by the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad.

"First, and obviously of the highest priority, is a squad building, as we now finally have land on which to build," reports president David W. Luck.

"The lot is just north of the intersection of Raymond Road and Route 27 — right in the center of an area that is exploding in population.

"Secondly, to serve this growing community," he continues, "we need a new, more efficient ambulance. Long-range planning, and more sophisticated procedures, call for the purchase of a Lifemobile. At present, we have to depend on surrounding communities for this kind of support. In the case of some emergencies — heart attack for example — the time lost waiting for back-up can prove to be unfortunate."

In addition, Mr. Luck reports there is a need for new members to fill vacancies left by volunteer members who have moved from the area. No experience is necessary; the squad will provide all the necessary training.

Those interested should call Helen Luck, 924-2615, or Doris Luck, 924-5869. Donations may be made directly to the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 392, Kingston, N.J. 08528.

COURSE OFFERED

On Advanced First Aid. The Princeton Chapter of American Red Cross will offer a course on advanced first aid and emergency care in its building at 182 North Harrison Street starting Thursday, September 19, from 7 until 10 p.m.

The course length is 15 hours and there is no fee involved. The only pre-requirement is a current card in advanced first aid. Anyone who desires to become an instructor is welcome to attend. The instructor trainer will be George W. Hunt.

YOUTH GROUPS INVITED

To W. Windsor Market. The West Windsor Lions Club will again provide a booth at the high school flea market on Saturday, September 19 to allow youth groups to pass out literature and to answer questions about their activities. There is no charge for this service. For information call 799-1642.

VOTER DRIVE LAUNCHED

By Princeton Chamber. The Chamber of Commerce has set up a voter registration table in its office at 44 Nassau Street. Last year the Chamber registered more than 80 new voters and it hopes for equal success for this year's election. In addition to the gubernatorial contest, every legislative district in the State has several candidates vying for the Assembly and Senate seats.

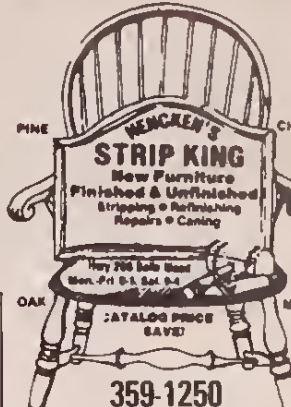

In order to vote on Nov. 3, voters must be registered by Oct. 5. Absentee ballot applications must be in the hands of the County Clerk before Oct. 27. Anyone wishing to register may call the Chamber office, 921-7676, for an application, or visit the office and fill out the application there.
